

ROUTE

1. Pharmacampus | On the site of the traditional Schering AG developers are now planning a public park and thruways for any interested local residents | Müllerstraße 170-171
2. Weddingplatz | Once the most visually appealing corner of the working-class neighborhood, though because of wartime destruction you'd hardly know it.
3. Dankeskirche | The hall hosts concerts, readings, and discussion groups more frequently than religious services.
4. Chausseestraßenbrücke | The route along the Panke begins here and leads under a multistory residential hulk | Chausseestraße 72-75
5. Südpankepark | A limestone sculpture (Memorial to Reunification) by Hildegard Leest recalls the Wall's influence in the neighborhood | Chausseestraße at Liesenstraße
6. Walter-Nicklitz-Promenade | Constructed in the 1950s with Marshall Plan funds.
7. Stadtbad Wedding | No water, but art. The closed public bath consistently puts on exhibitions, and the outer façade boasts the world's largest tape-art mural | Gerichtstraße 65-69
8. Kunst in den Gerichtshöfen e.V. | One of Germany's largest art hubs, the ateliers hold the entire spectrum of contemporary art | Gerichtstraße 12/13
9. Wiesenburg | The now picturesque ruins of the former homeless shelter from 1896. Prominent guests included the writer Hans Fallada ("Alone in Berlin") | between Gerichtstraße and Pankstraße
10. Nettelbeckplatz | Rest your feet at the "Dance on the Volcano" fountain and take in Wedding at its most authentic.
11. Kneipe Magendoktor | Here bar personnel is happy to cure all thirsts and afflictions | Reinickendorfer Str. 111

WEDDING WALK | From a pharmaceutical giant to the "stomach doctor"

It may not have the best reputation, but the district is well worth a visit. Colorful, loud, price-conscious: Wedding has even become a brand! A closer look reveals immigrant neighborhoods with surprising cultural corners to explore.

THE PROJECT

www.ringbahn.com takes a new look at the past and present of Berlin's Ringbahn, shedding light on technical, architectural, and everyday aspects. For those in the know, but especially for those just getting on board!
