- Humboldthöhe | The half-imploded bunker's former artillery platform affords a panoramic view over Gesundbrunnen | Volkspark Humboldthain
- Curry Baude | Friendly and professional, here the curry wurst reigns! One of Berlin's best kiosks, to which the never-ending queue attests | Badstraße 1-5
- Gartenstadt Atlantic | The small front yards and green backyards are the hallmark of this 1920s residential settlement | Behm- Ecke Beller-mannstraße
- Swinemünder Brücke | Popularly called the "Million-Dollar Bridge" since 1905, thanks to the building costs of c. one million Goldmark
- Lokal Karadiniz | Turkish cuisine from the Black Sea is the fare at this small, modest restaurant | Beller-mannstraße 15
- Grüntaler Promenade | Green space with sculptures and playgrounds | Grüntaler Straße
- Bistro Sila Manti + Gözleme Evi | Anatolian little dumplings (Manti) and flatbread (Gözleme): a tasty alternative to the omnipresent döner | Grüntaler Straße 17
- Autohöfe | Sparks fly out of the small workshop as cars of old are being raised from the dead | entrance at Badstraße 59 or 62
- Erkan Möbel Discount | Plastic glory for the bedroom somewhere between Versailles and Barbie's dream house | Böttgerstraße 7
- Café Barrikade | The café offers a communist cultural program for friends of highbrow chaos | Butt-mannstraße 2
- Bibliothek am Luisenbad | The beautiful neo-Baroque building was augmented with a modern addition in 1995 and now houses a city library branch | Travemünderstraße 2
- Pfarrkirche St. Paul | A real Schinkel building on the outside, pure 1950s on the inside. Classicism with a kidney-shaped pulpit | Badstraße 50-51
- Mitte Museum | The exhibition is all about the historic districts Mitte, Wedding, and Moabit | Pankstraße 47

GESUNDBRUNNEN

At one point it was thought to be the Baden-Baden of Berlin, but the small suburb with its mineral springs was soon subsumed by the quickly growing capital. Today, artists' ateliers, body shops, and old bunkers draw people to the neighborhood.

THE PROJECT

www.ringbahn.com takes a new look at the past and present of Berlin's Ringbahn, shedding light on technical, architectural, and everyday aspects. For those in the know, but especially for those just getting on board!
