- 1. Konditorei Manske | Made-to-order cakes and pies with an outsider art flair | Brusendorfer Str. 11-12
- 2. Schudomastraße | Exilien, Öbel Oore, Schnitzophren, Bauchhund Salonlabor – names of the storefront galleries and workshops/ateliers with installations, film screenings, weekly jazz concerts, and diverse happenings.
- 3. Café Excalibur | A quirky neighborhood bar hangout that hosts parties and card nights, with a nice biergarten for warmer months | Schudomastraße 32
- 4. Esperantoplatz | Small square with informational plaque honoring the area's century-long link to the universal language Esperanto
- 5. Der kleine Buddha | Organic store and small bistro, a largely uncommon sight in Neukölln around the Ringbahn, with occasional readings and performances | Mareschstraße 14
- 6. B-Lage | Communal vegetarian dinners are held Wednesday evenings at this active neighborhood meeting point/café | Mareschstraße 1
- 7. K&K VolkArt | Since 2007, a hub of interdisciplinary multimedia performances, especially for Neukölln's youth population, and shares a building with Richardplatz Süd's cultural center | Böhmische Straße 46
- 8. Café Linus | Traditional but off-beat dive bar mostly untouched by the area's gallery explosion | Hertzbergstraße 32
- 9. Rise Berlin | International artist-run space and silk-screening studio with rotating group and solo shows | Hertzbergstraße 27
- 10. Stern und Kreis Schifffahrt | In the biergarten in front of Hotel Estrel, a chance to hop on or off Berlin boat tours | Ziegrastraße
- 11. RAUM18 | An international electro crowd visits this out-of-the-way club in a warehouse complex for live music, DJ sets, and dancing | Ziegrastraße 11
- 12. Neukölln Harbor | The Schifffahrtskanal leads to this central location for Neukölln's industry, and a focal point of the city's plans for rehabilitation | Lahnstraße
- 13. Arbeitsamt | Neukölln's oft-discussed unemployment center, housed in a 1930's building by Leo Lottermoser | Sonnenallee 262/280

SONNENALLEE

The sunny names of the small restaurants, kiosks, and adult arcades reflect the street's name. Glamour unfolds with every step closer to the Ringbahn: Tom Jones, Elvis, and Cher (without Sunny) compete for their place in the sun. Las Vegas in Neukölln!
